VOLUME CVII.--NO. 288. ALEXANDRIA, VA., FRIDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 30, 1906. PRICE 2 CENTS.

A Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherrybark, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherrybark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe, obstinate, chronic coughs, bronchial and laryngeal troubles, and chronic sore throat with hoarseness. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures. Send for and read the little book of extracts, treating of the properties and uses of the several medicinal roots that enter into Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and learn why this medicine has such a wide range of application in the cure of diseases. It is sent free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. The "Discovery" contains no alcohol or harmful, habit-forming drug. Ingredients all printed on each bottle wrapper in plain English.

Sick people, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy.

Constipation

Baked sweet apples, with some people, bring prompt relief for Constipation. With others, coarse all-wheat bread will have the same effect. Nature undoubtedly has a vegetable remedy to relieve every ailment known to man, if physicians can but find Nature's way to health. And this is strikingly true with regard to Constipation.

The bark of a certain tree in California—Cascara Sagrada—offers a most excellent aid to this end. But, combined with Egyptian Senna, Slippery Elm Bark, Solid Extract of Prunes, etc., this same Cascara bark is given its greatest possible power to correct constipation. A toothsome Candy Tablet, called Lax-ets, is now made at the Dr. Shoop Laboratories, from this ingenuous and most effective prescription. Its effect on Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Sallow Complexion, etc., is indeed prompt and satisfying.

No griping, no unpleasant after effects are experienced, and Lax-ets are put up in beautiful lithographed metal boxes at 5 cents and 25 cents per box.

KILLED BY LITTLE GIRL.

Ethel Smith, the thirteen-years-old daughter of Special Policeman Leonard Smith, is under arrest at the house of Chief of Police Kimball, at Thornton, R. I., charged with killing Elmer Briggs, a resident of Thornton. The circumstances of the killing were such that after being obliged to arrest the child, Chief Kimball took her to his house, gave her a Thanksgiving dinner and declared she should not go to jail so long as she was under his jurisdiction.

Yesterday's tragedy was the culmination of an estrangement between Briggs and his wife. About two weeks ago Briggs is alleged to have deserted his wife leaving her without means to support herself and her three small children. Special Officer Smith took pity upon the destitute woman, and he and his wife received Mrs. Briggs and her children into their home and were arranging to send them to the home of Mrs. Briggs' brother who lives in Niantic.

Yesterday afternoon, during the absence of Smith, Briggs arrived at the Smith house and demanded admission, which was refused by Charles Halliday, a colored cook, the only man about the premises at the time.

Briggs threatened to make trouble, and Halliday started to bring Chief of Police Kimball to the scene, leaving in the house Mrs. Briggs and her children, Mrs. Smith, and Ethel. The women and children, fearing that Briggs would force an entrance, locked all the doors and windows and built barricades of chairs.

Ethel procured her father's revolver, a .32-caliber weapon. As soon as Halliday was out of sight, Briggs again demanded admittance. This time being refused, he drew a large carving knife from beneath his coat and cut away the the netting from the screen on the front door. He then smashed a pane of glass in the door, reached his arm in the inside, turned the key in the lock and threw back the bolt. As he started to enter the house, Ethel warned him that she would shoot.

Briggs paid no attention to the child's words, and as he forced the door open the little girl fired two shots at him, both bullets lodging in his body. Briggs hesitated for a moment and then kept on. The child fired three more shots, every bullet taking effect, and Briggs staggered back and fell dead on the steps.

All of those who were at the house at the time of the shooting say that when Briggs approached the house he was muttering threats to kill his wife and children.

Young Woman Killed by Train.

In trying to save her girl friends from death in front of a fast Erie passenger train at Creston, Ohio, yesterday morning, Nellie Carter, the beautiful 19-year-old daughter of J. G. Carter, was struck by the train and killed. Miss Nettie McIntyre, whose life Miss Carter tried to have, was uninjured.

Miss Carter and Miss McIntyre went out for a walk in the morning and on their return strolled along the railroad track to take a short cut to the Carter residence. The two were so engrossed in their own conversation that they did not notice the approach of a fast passenger train behind them. The engineer blew the whistle and the girls, turning, saw the train rushing toward them.

Miss Carter jumped from the track, but her companion seemed paralyzed with fright. She stood screaming, unable to move, Miss Carter ran to her and dragged her from the track, but in so doing was struck by the side-beam of the engine. She was thrown across two side tracks and landed in a small gully. She was terribly crushed and died 20 minutes later. Miss McIntyre fainted when her friend was struck and did not revive until Miss Carter's body was on its way home.

Wonderful Battery.

A primary electro-chemical battery, which, if it is what is claimed for it, will start a new era in the electrical world and work almost a revolution in the industrial world, is about to be produced in Fond du Lac, Wis. The inventor is a Milwaukee man who is a graudate of Yale.

According to the descriptions of the battery furnished, a standard cell, weighing 18 pounds has a capacity of 1,000 ampere hours without recharging. The cell is six inches square and 10 inches deep. The standard storage cell of the same dimensions now used has a capacity 200 ampere hours, weighs at least 50 pounds and requires about eight hours to charge. The new battery can be recharged in a few minutes. An automobile could carry enough for a thousand miles or more.

In a recent test made with a runabout by the inventor and a friend they traveled 260 miles between Milwaukee, Chicago and Waukesha on a cell with one charge.

Fortunate Missourians.

"When I was a druggist, at Livonia, Mo.," writes T. J. Dwyer, now of Graysville, Mo., "three of my customers were permanently cured of consumption by Dr. King's New Discovery, and are well and strong today. One was trying to sell his property and move to Arizona, but after using New Discovery a short time he found it unnecessary to do so. I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as the most wonderful medicine in existence." Surest Cough and Cold cure and Throat and Lung healer. Guaranteed by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, Druggists, 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Women Attacked by Negroes.

Fighting desperately for their lives, Mrs. John Simms, of Hot Springs, Ark., and her friend, Miss Florence McKeehan, succeeded Wednesday night in foiling two negroes who attempted both attack and burglary. Mrs. Simms was choked almost to death and terribly beaten. Miss McKeehan was also injured, but not so seriously as Mrs. Simms.

The entrance of Mr. Simms, who came in very late, frightened the brutes away, but the husband was so long restoring the young women to consciousness that not until early yesterday morning was he able to inform the authorities of the assault. At once every police and county officer available was put on the trail, and the capture of one negro was reported early last night.

Beyond the fact that the man was traced by bloodhounds and answered very accurately the description given by both women, no information was vouchsafed, the self-appointed posse of citizens who followed the officers having resolved themselves into jury, judge and executioner. The other negro will also be lynched if caught.

Little Girl Burned to Death.

Gladys, the 6-year-old daughter of Charles Ernde, of Hagerstown, Md., was burned to death yesterday evening by the explosion of a coal-oil lamp. The child's mother, Mrs. Emma Ernde, who attempted to save her, was so seriously burned that she cannot survive. Her daughter, Grace Ernde, 19-years-old, was also burned and is in a critical condition. Mrs. Bertha Gurgle, another daughter, was burned, but not seriously.

The child was sitting at a table, her chair tilted, and to save herself she caught the tablecloth, pulling the lamp on top of her to the floor. It exploded and the burning oil spread over her face and body. Her body was burned to a crisp.

Mrs. Ernde, whose clothes were in a blaze, ran out into the backyard, where Policeman Williams and several neighbors tore off her burning garments, but not until she was badly burned. The clothes of Miss Ernde caught fire while she attempted to extinguish those of her mother. A fire alarm was turned in and the department saved the house. Edward Munson, who reached the house soon after the explosion, threw his overcoat around Mrs. Ernde.

Alexandria Gazette AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

FRIDAY EVENING, NOV. 30, 1906.

RELATIONS between the United States and Japan, according to some reports, are still strained over the San Francisco school matter. From other sources, however, it is learned that the issue has burned entirely out, and that the conditions existing between the two nations are in their normal state. The latest alarmist is Harry B. Miller, United States consul general at Yokohama. He says Japan is prepared to use her military and naval strength, if necessary, to fight the discrimination that has been made by the San Francisco board of education against Japanese who want to attend the schools with white children. Miller says:

The Japanese are highly incensed over the affair, and they are willing to go to war. They feel that they have powerful military and naval departments, and open comment is made on the probability of a show of fight to compel the American people to cease discrimination against the Japanese.

It has been suggested that talk similar to that ascribed to Miller is for the purpose of multiplying the United States navy and extorting enormous appropriations from Congress. This may or may not be so, but that Japan has any serious intentions of crossing swords with the United States over the San Francisco school episode is hard to believe. Many reasons could be shown why the Mikado would meditate long before embarking upon such a movement. His country has just emerged from a war that has cost millions of dollars and the sacrifice of many lives, and it is believed that Japan would not have submitted to the terms of the Portsmouth treaty if the Mikado had not realized that should he continue the struggle with Russia there would have been an enormous drain upon his resources for an indefinite time. Hence the Mikado emerged from the war with but few of the trophies he had hoped for.

THE DEATH of Mr. Samuel Spencer in the terrible railway accident early yesterday morning has recalled many recent incidents in connection with the deceased. A gentleman of this city, who had been a life-long friend and acquaintance as well as a fellow-official in the Southern Railway Company, was with him in his ill-fated private car a few minutes before it left Washington Wednesday night. The sands of President Spencer's life then had but a few hours to run. His life's work was about to draw to a close, as before the next sunrise the curtain was to fall upon the last act in his career, when his life was to be snuffed out in an instant while he was asleep. Surrounded by a few intimate friends, the unfortunate gentleman had laid aside his official duties for a few days' recuperation, and a rest from exhaustive office duties. He was anticipating the trip with pleasure. It, however, was destined to be his last journey on earth—a ride to a sudden and terrible death. The veil which hides the future is said to be woven by the hand of mercy and it is well that such a screen exists; otherwise life would be unbearable. It is recalled that at the recent annual dinner of the Southern Society in New York the toastmaster made a remark which was a joke, but in the light of yesterday's tragedy is almost prophetic. When the speaker came to introduce Mr. Spencer he spoke of him as "the late Mr. Spencer." The diners almost gasped, until the presiding officer added, "because he rides upon his own railroad." A grim joke, but the toastmaster unconsciously anticipated but a short time the hand of fate.

SENATOR TILLMAN'S determination to make his speech in Chicago Tuesday night, regardless of the threats of negroes, brings to mind an incident in the late President Andrew Johnson's history. He had on one occasion been warned that if he appeared in a political meeting in Tennessee he would be killed. Mr. Johnson was on the stand when the assembly was called to order, and after placing a huge pistol on the table, he said: "I understand I'm to be assassinated at this meeting. I move that that be the first business in order." The speaker paused, and after looking around the hall, placed the pistol in his pocket and, after observing that he had been misinformed, proceeded with his speech. There is an old saying to the effect that people who are sworn for always live long. It was so in the case of Andrew Johnson and will in all probability be so in the career of Benjamin Tillman. The latter, like the renowned Tennesseean, has no white feathers to exhibit, and when he was threatened with violence by negroes in this land of free speech, he did not invoke protection from any one, but proceeded to the hall and said what he had to say. Senator Tillman's open defiance of his enemies will commend him not only to his constituents, but to the great majority of the people of this country.

The weather has been mild and fair today.

From Washington.

Washington, Nov. 30.

John A. McIlhenny, of Louisiana, former Rough Rider, close personal friend of President Roosevelt, and democrat by political faith, will be appointed Civil Service Commissioner to succeed Alfred W. Cooley of New York who was recently made assistant Attorney General of the United States. The nomination of Mr. McIlhenny will go to the senate as soon as Congress meets. The place was offered to him several weeks ago but he was not at that time able to give the President a definite answer. Today he called at the White House in company with Mr. Cooley and told the President he would accept. The appointment of Mr. McIlhenny will make the Civil Service democratic, as General J. C. Black, president of the Commission of three, is also of that political belief and will cause surprise among the republicans.

According to assurances which Attorney General Moody is receiving from incoming Senators, his nomination to the Supreme bench will probably be confirmed without reference to the judiciary committee. His close personal friends, who were agitated over earlier reports after a fight against his confirmation, now declare that Mr. Moody will retire from the head of the Department of Justice as soon as the Senate takes favorable action upon the nomination, which they believe will be by the middle of next week. The Attorney General has practically concluded his work at the department. His annual report is now in the hands of the printer. One of the most striking features is that treating of the enforcement of the Elkins anti-rebate law. There have been already collected in fines from railways and other corporations over $415,000. If the pending prosecutions are successful this will be increased several hundred thousand dollars. This has one reference to the Standard Oil prosecutions. There are already 6,000 indictments pending. A verdict for the government in each case could net in fines over $120,000,000, it is said.

Rebuttal depositions in the Bassett divorce case were presented to Justice Gould this afternoon. Former Representative Benjamin L. Fairchild, in his deposition denied much of the testimony given by Mrs. Bassett. Mr. Fairchild denied that he tried to cause ill-feeling between Bassett and his wife. Questioned concerning an interview he had with Mrs. Bassett in the hospital at Baltimore, he said. "When I referred to her silence as to her condition, she did not explain anything but hung her head making no answer. Her mother and sister knew nothing of her condition." On Monday the arguments of counsel will be presented.

In view of the recent anti-American agitation in Japan, there is believed to be considerable significance in the annual report of Rear Admiral George A. Converse, Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, which was made public today. The necessity of keeping the navy of the United States in a condition of full preparedness for war is the key-note of the report.

Fear of a presidential veto will probably prevent the passage of any bill looking to the relief of the negro soldiers of the 25th Infantry who were recently dismissed the service. This is the opinion expressed today at the White House by Mr. Prince, of Illinois, a leading member of the House military affairs committee.

YESTERDAY'S RAILROAD HORROR.

The remains of President Spencer, of the Southern Railway, who was killed in the wreck at Lawyers, 11 miles south of Lynchburg, at an early hour yesterday morning, arrived in Washington on a special train at 11 o'clock last night. After a consultation between the representatives of his family and the officials of the railroad company, they were taken to the rooms of an undertaker's establishment to be prepared for burial. Arrangements for the funeral will be made today.

The body of Philip Schulyer was taken to New York on the midnight train, while the bodies of John D. Fisher and Frank T. Redwood, of Baltimore, were taken to that city this morning.

The remains of D. Walter Davis were taken from the train in this city last night. Mrs. Davis was spending the day with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Joyce, at 913 King street, and it was there that the news of her husband's death reached her. Mr. Davis was a native of Prince William county, and was twenty-nine years old. He lived in this city several years, and moved to Washington shortly after his marriage to Miss Joyce, about two years ago.

Mr. Davis was the day manager of the telegraph office at the general offices of the Southern Railway, in Washington, and as such was frequently detailed to accompany the higher officials of the road on such trips as the one that ended so disastrously yesterday. It is understood that when he was notified that he would be expected to accompany President Spencer and party on this occasion, he asked to be relieved, stating that it was the desire of his wife and himself to spend Thanksgiving with her parents in Alexandria, but it could not be arranged.

The bodies of Messrs. Charles D. Fisher and Francis T. Redwood, the two Baltimoreans who were killed in the wreck, arrived at Union Station, in that city at an early hour this morning.

Apart from the details, the Gazette yesterday contained substantially all the facts in connection with this latest railroad horror. Seven persons lost their lives in the accident, and ten others were more or less injured.

Horrible as was the disaster in all its details, it has been shown that had train No. 33 stopped a mile farther south the accident would have been one of the most appaling that has ever occurred on the rail. The ill-fated train had stopped on the crest of a steep grade, and No. 37, which was following, was on account of the number of cars composing it, running at the rate of about 30 miles an hour. Had it reached the down grade it would have been making 60 miles, and at such a rate of speed the impact would probably have killed the occupants of both trains.

The full list of the dead is as follows.

KILLED.

President Samuel Spencer, of New York city.

Phillip Schuyler, of New York city.

Charles D. Fisher, of Baltimore, Md.

Frances T. Redwood of Baltimore, Md. a native of King George county.

D. Waler Davis, of Alexandria, Va., private dispatcher to President Spencer.

William Pollard, negro porter on President Spencer's car, who died in hospital in Lynchburg yesterday.

An unknown person, whose head and limbs are burned off short, who is believed to be the third porter on the private car, who is missing. His name cannot be learned.

The collision was between the Jacksonville express No 33, and the Washington and Southwestern vestibule limited No. 37, both southbound. President Spencer and his entire party, as far as is known, were sleeping when the collision occurred, and the probabilities are that all of them, excepting Dispatcher Davis, were killed instantly. It is certain that life was extinct before the flames touched them. President Spencer's body was burned almost beyond recognition, as was that of Mr. Fisher. The body of Mr. Schuyler was taken from under the train before it was burned very much, having been singed only slightly. President Spencer's car was attached to the rear of the Jacksonville train, which was standing still when struck.

President Spencer was lying directly under the big locomotive of the rear train. So great was the force of the impact that the forward train was sent at least 150 feet ahead, the locomotive going over and upon the body of Mr. Spencer. Until after the debris burned itself out and the engine cooled off the bodies could not be removed.

The impact drove the combination car forward and the express car lifted up, together with its trucks, and crushed the car 40 feet, leaving the remainder of the car strewn with tons of baggage and colored passengers, who were pushed back like rats as the express car crushed the combination car.

The combination car did not leave the track, and in clearing the track the express car was hauled to a siding a mile distant on top and in the debris of the combination car. How the negro passengers in this compartment, which is known as the "jimcrow" part of the train, escaped, none of them being killed, is beyond explanation.

One of the worst phases of the accident was the heartless manner in which a few passengers and some of the attaches especially some of the porters of the Atlanta train, ransacked the wrecked cars for plunder.

Not a few passengers engaged in this ghoulish business, and a large number of valuables and much money which was scattered about the wrecked train were taken.

As is stated above, the collision was between train No. 33, the Jacksonville express, and No. 37, the Washington and Southwestern vestibule limited, both southbound. The former train had stopped at the top of a heavy grade to repair a slight breakdown, and the other train dashed into it before a flagman could get back to give the warning signal. The heavy engine of the train plowed into Mr. Spencer's car, which immediately caught fire. The wreckage was piled around the engine, and every portion of the woodwork on the engine was burned and the engine torn and twisted into a useless mass of debris. Dispatcher Davis was alive when taken from the wreck. He was crushed about the lower part of his body and was conscious to the end. He stated to his rescuer that he knew he was dying and the end was not far off. "Place your finger on my mouth," he said, "it feels so cool and good."

In response to his pleadings, a fellow-passenger remained with him for 10 minutes until he saw that nothing more could be done for Davis.

Passengers were taken from the combination car of the forward train. They were literally covered with heavy baggage thrown through the partition from the baggage compartment. Most of them were badly hurt and all sustained cuts and bruises.

The Jacksonville express had the right of way in the block, and the engine broke away from the train and proceeded two miles, one of which was beyond Lawyers, before the engineer noticed he was without his train. It may be that when he passed Lawyers that the operator gave Rangoon a clear block without noticing whether the rear end markers were to be seen before he did so.

It is possible that a railway investigation may develop that the Rangoon operator let the Atlanta train into the block on an order from Lawyers that the block was clear, the operator there thinking the trainless engine cleared the block, and the rear train was past Rangoon before it could be stopped when the mistake was discovered. Should the investigation show that the Lawyers operator gave a clear track after the engine passed his station without noting the rear end markers, then the cause of the accident was at Lawyers and not at Rangoon.

At 10:30 o'clock last night it was ascertained from a reliable source that D. J. Maddux, the operator at Rangoon, who was on duty at the time of the accident, had disappeared and he cannot be found, although railway officials have made an effort to locate him.

THE NEW CATHEDRAL.

As stated in the Gazette of that date, with dedicatory ceremonies participated in by the most distinguished Catholic prelates in this country, the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart, in Richmond, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Ryan, yesterday took its place as one of the greatest institutions of its kind in the United States and a monument of the church in the South.

The ceremonies, beginning with the consecration at 6 o'clock it the morning and followed at 11 o'clock by pontifical high mass, attracted a large crowd to Richmond. Mr. and Mrs. Ryan came from New York to attend. Not only were Cardinal Gibbons, Apostolic Delegate Falconio and many archbishops and bishops from all parts of the United States conspicuous figures in the services, but State and city officials, including Governor Swanson and the Mayor of Richmond and a host of prominent laymen, were assigned special seats in the cathedral, admission to which was by invitation.

At 11 o'clock pontifical high mass was celebrated, with Bishop Meares as celebrant. The vast building was crowded with people of all denominations. The sermon was preached by Archbishop Joseph Keane, of Dubuque. During the ceremonies Cardinal Gibbons, in pontifical robes, occupied a throne in the sanctuary. He bestowed the blessing of the Pontiff, Pius X., upon the assemblage of ecclesiastics and upon the congregation. Cardinal Gibbons, although his part in the ceremonies was largely passive, was the most interesting personage in the brilliant assemblage. The Cardinal's throne was at the left of the sanctuary. To the right was, seated upon another throne, Monsignor Falconio, the papal delegate. Opposite the Cardinal, at the right of the sanctuary, Right Rev. Augustus Van de Vyver, bishop of Richmond, was seated upon his throne.

The church is a magnificent edifice of Italian Renaissance architecture occupying a picturesque and commanding location, embracing an entire block in the heart of the fashionable part of Richmond and facing Monroe Park. Within the building are five altars and two chapels.

The cathedral was first contemplated by Monsignor McGill, the Confederate bishop of Richmond, in 1865, who purchased the eastern portion of the block on which the granite pile now stands.

The distinction of consecrating the high altar of the Cathedral was reserved for the papal delegate. St. Joseph's altar was consecrated by Bishop Northrop, of Charleston, S. C., and the altar of the Virgin Mary by Bishop Kelley, of Savannah, Ga. Bishop Monoghan, of Wilmington, Del., enjoyed the privilege of performing the consecration rites at the little altar of Our Lady of Lourdes. The altar of the Good Shepherd was consecrated by Bishop Lee Heid, of North Carolina.

Archbishop Keane in his sermon gave a brief exposition of the Catholic creed, touched upon the ancient origin and early history of the church, referred to the spread of the Catholic Church throughout the world and made a brief reference to his work in this diocese. He made a very complimentary allusion to the religious and charitable spirit of the noted financier through whose munificence the stately cathedral was obtained for Richmond.

Vespers called the assemblage together again at 8 o'clock last night. Three thousand others struggled vainly to secure admittance. Ablaze with a myriad lights the immense church presented a wondrous scene, if anything more striking than that of the morning. The entire gathering of dignitaries was present in the sanctuary, the cardinal entering a little later than the others. The event of the evening was the magnificent sermon by Archbishop Glennon, of St. Louis, a masterpiece of diction. The Apostolic Delegate imparted the papal blessing at this service. The singing was unusually fine.

Today's Telegraphic News

The Gillette Trial.

Herkimer, N. Y., Nov. 30.—Fortified by stimulants to brace his weaken nerves, Chester Gillette today faced a cross examination in his trial which will determine whether he will be adjudged guilty or innocent of the murder of Grace Brown. His counsel fear he may go all to pieces before the ordeal is over. District Attorney Ward said today that he thought Gillette would be under cross examination all day and possibly tomorrow.

It was a gloomy Thanksgiving for the prisoner and he spent the entire day going over his evidence with his counsel and preparing to meet the attack of the prosecutor today. Gillette told his counsel that he was not satisfied with himself as a witness. He said he hoped to make his story of the drowning of Grace Brown clearer under the cross examination of District Attorney Ward.

The State's Attorney will probably break all records for extended cross examinations with Gillette. He has prepared to go over every inch of the ground that was traced by Gillette and the dead girl and he will demand an explanation for every act and movement made by Gillette from the time of his first appearance in the town of Cortland until he was placed under arrest by Deputy Sheriff Klocke.

When Gillette took the stand today the State's Attorney's battery of cross-questions was opened upon the accused man. To many questions he returned the stereotyped answer, "I can't remember."

The District Attorney will call two witnesses from the jail who will swear that they heard Chester Gillette in his cell tell his lawyers that he struck Grace Brown. What they heard was this: "When she came up I struck her and she went down again."

Under a fire of probing questions, Gillette made damaging admissions today that will not help him to escape the electric chair.

Gillette went all to pieces when Ward asked him why he told conflicting stories about the drowning to Deputy Sheriff Klock. He admitted he told different stories.

"You told Deputy Sheriff Ingraham that when the girl rose to the surface of the water you told her to grab the boat and you would try to get her ashore?" said Ward.

"Yes, but it was a lie."

Gillette under a fire of questions admitted he had made no effort to save the girl. He did not dive nor try to swim where her body went down.

The trouble started on a division following an animated debate and the sitting was adjourned. Fresh fighting occrred when the session was renewed. One of the deputies boxed the ears of another and this resulted in a new scrimmage. It was necessary to call an ambulance corps to treat the wounded.

Reported Lynching.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 30.—Reliable confirmation has been received today of the story of a party of hunters that a man was lynched this week in the North Woods, for an attack on the wife of a wood chopper. Tupper Lake junction, which has figured as one of the places visited by Chester Gillette and Grace Brown, is given as the scene of the lynching. The lynched man attempted an assault upon the woman while her husband was absent. The man escaped, but was run down with dogs. After identification by the woman the woodsmen organized a court which rendered a verdict of death and the man was strung up to a convenient tree.

New London, Conn., Nov. 30.—The boat train for Brattleboro' Vermont, from this city, carrying passengers from the boats here north on the Central Vermont Railway, ran on a siding at Montville this morning, and collided with an extra freight train which was waiting for the passenger train to pass. Plans are being made by the Japanese in northern Korea, according to advices brought by the steamer Autocrus from the Orient. Large garrisons have been established in the north and Japanese troops arrive at frequent intervals on the coast, and light railways have been constructed from the coast to the frontier.

Will Ask for Resignations.

Havana, Nov. 30.—Governor Magoon is to ask the resignations of all Senators and Representatives elected at the last election. In case the resignations are refused, he says he will declare the election illegal and that the seats of members affected vacant. It is said here today that Governor Magoons threatened action will virtually amount to a declaration that President Palma's election was illegal, as he was chosen at the election. This will be putting the United States squarely against the moderates, a situation which Secretary Taft very diplomatically avoided.

Mr. Spencer's Successor.

New York, Nov. 30.—A gentleman well versed in the affairs of the Southern Railway says that Second Vice-President W. W. Finley will probably be elected to succeed President Spencer. The most impressive movement was in American Smelting, which declined 2¼. United States Steel fell 1. A good deal of importance was attached to money conditions and expectations of a higher rate next week was the chief incentive for the bearish position of room traders.

The Late D. Walter Davis.

The funeral of the late D. Walter Davis, who was killed in the wreck on the Southern Railway will take place from the residence of Mr. E. C. Joyce, No 913 King street, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The deceased was well and favorably known in this city, where he formerly lived. About two years ago he married Miss Edna Joyce, daughter of Mr. E. C Joyce, local agent of the Washington Southern Railway Company, at whose home Mr. and Mrs. Davis resided for some time, after which they moved to Washington.

Mr. Davis was twenty-nine years of age. He was born in Manassas, and at an early age entered the employ of the Southern Railway Company as a telegraph operator. For several years he was stationed in this city. Later he was transferred to the general office of the company in Washington. His ability and attention to duty won for him promotions in regular order. At the time of his death he held the position of manager of the telegraph division in the Washington office. He was a member in the Tenth Street Baptist Church, of Washington. Mr. Davis was a member of Alexandria-Washington Lodge of Masons, and that organization will attend the funeral in a body

A friend sends the following just tribute to the deceased:

"In the death of D. Walter Davis, who lost his life in the Southern Railway collision at Lawyer's, Va., on November 29th, the Southern Railway lost a valuable employe in their telegraphic department. He had for the past fifteen years filled various positions until reaching that of manager in the telegraph department of the general offices at Washington. He was a man of high Christian character, beloved by all with whom he came in contact in all walks of life. His immediate superior officers held him in high esteem for his ability, and especially did they note his efforts to raise to the highest standard his chosen profession and those by whom he was surrounded. He had for several years past been chosen to accompany President Spencer on his annual Thanksgiving trip, and he had thus so endeared himself and proved so efficient that he was on this occasion specially assigned. He leaves a host of friends to sympathise with the broken circle of the bereaved.

Miss Caroline West will render a recitation and Mr. Charles Bendheim will deliver an address, taking for his subject "Our Memorial Services." Mr. Albert Schlenker will render a trombone solo. An opening prayer will be delivered by Rev. William J. Morton, rector of Christ Church, and benediction will be pronounced by Rev. Father L. F. Kelly, of St. Mary's Church.

Since the organization of the lodge in this city nine members have died—four since the last memorial services, viz.; Daniel Ruben, Thomas F. Spinks, Peyton B. Dearborn and W. A. Moore.

A large number of cards of admission have been given out by the members of the lodge but the demand has not been supplied and a large audience is assured.

The points were made as follows: Goals, Dobson, 2; Carroll, 2; Sullivan, 2; Clark, 5. Free throws, Gray, 2; Clark, 1. The officials were Mr. McCormick, of Washington, referee, and Mr. Duffy, umpire.

The Alexandria Athletic Association Basketball Club will play the strong Vespers team of Washington at Schuler's Hall tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock. Alexandria and Vespers are about evenly matched and a good game is promised all who attend. Ladies are cordially invited to attend.

Escapes from the Work House.

Among the cases before Justice Caton in the Police Court this morning was that of a white man who was charged with escaping from the work house. This species of offense has been going on for many years from the fact that, under present conditions, it is difficult to compel prisoners to remain on the premises and perform labor. How this can be remedied is hard to determine. There are many cases before the Police Court where offenders might be sent to the work house if they could be held there and compelled to work in the fields or in other capacities.

GOVERNMENT WAGES LOW.

H. T. Newcomb Gives Facts of Interest to Wage Earners.

From 1896 to 1904 the average retail cost of the ordinary articles of food used in the United States advanced no less than 17 per cent (16.96, to be more exact)—that is, the purchaser of food for a family had to pay $1.17 in 1904 for the same quantity and quality of food that $1 would purchase in 1896. These are official statistics compiled by the highly skilled experts employed by the federal government, and every housewife knows that they do not overstate the advance. Other necessities of life have advanced in cost with approximately equal rapidity.

Unquestionably wages ought, generally speaking, to have advanced somewhat in proportion to the increase in the cost of living. In private employment this has apparently taken place, the average wages per hour reported by the federal bureau of labor being 17.36 per cent higher in 1904 than in 1896 and the average weekly earnings 12.76 per cent higher. The advances thus represented are spread all over the country; they characterize every private industrial enterprise and have benefited all classes of workmen employed in private undertakings.

How is it with public employment? A few undertakings conducted under public ownership employ labor like that similarly serving private employers in the same communities, and in these cases the public rate of wages has slowly been advanced somewhat in proportion to the advance in the wages privately paid. But where any American government, municipal, state or national, is the sole or by far the largest employer of a particular class of labor the advances to meet increased cost of living have been so few that the ordinary investigator will be unable to discover a single instance.

Throughout the postal service, among the 25,000 clerical employees at Washington, in the customs and internal revenue services there have been no advances in pay to meet the rise in cost of food, clothing and shelter. The pay of letter carriers, for example, remains precisely where it was fixed twenty years ago by an act approved on Jan. 3, 1887.

The largest printing office in the world is that maintained at Washington by the government, and there the federal government employs a large force of intelligent and highly skilled workingmen. A change in the basis of payment in 1899 from the piece work to the per hour system prevents comparisons with dates prior to the change, but wages have remained stationary since March 3, 1899, although the official statisticians report that the cost of food has advanced since the rate of wages was fixed by statute fully 12.25 per cent. During the same years the wages of printers in private book publishing or job printing establishments advanced throughout the United States as follows: Compositors, male, 14.67 per cent; compositors, female, 20.30 per cent; press feeders, male, 22.41 per cent; press feeders, female, 21.27 per cent; pressmen, 11.75 per cent.—H. T. Newcomb.

THE CASH BOY TALKS.

Father's Idea of the Delights of Municipal Ownership.

"Say, boss," remarked our cash boy this morning, "my paw is red hot for minnisickle ownership. I don't know what that is, but paw says everybody is going to own everything and divide up the profits. He was telling ma about it last night.

"Ma asked him where the people would get the money to buy those things, as they would cost millions of dollars.

"Paw said, 'Issue bonds.'

"'Yes,' said ma, 'but how will you pay the bonds when they are due?'

"'Issue more bonds,' said paw.

"'But how about the interest?' said ma. 'Won't you have to tax the people for that?'

"'Why, no,' said paw. 'Pay the interest with bonds.'

"'I don't see how you could do that,' said ma.

"'You don't, eh?' replied paw. 'Now, when we went to housekeeping, didn't I pay for all our furniture by giving a note, and when it came due didn't I give the man another note? You women know nothing about finance. You wait until the minnisickle ownership gets in power, we will divide the profits among the people, and no one will have to work. We will all be Vanderbilts. Won't you be proud of your hubby when he becomes part owner of all public buildings? You see, madam, there are some things you don't know.'

"Paw felt pretty big looked wise. Ma stood and gazed at him for some time and then said:

"'Yes, there are some things I don't know, and one of those things is this: If there is a man more fit for the lunatic asylum than you, I don't know him.'

"Then I commenced to whistle 'Everybody Works but Daddy.' Say, boss, you see that lump on the back of my head? Paw has had that tune poked at him before, and I wasn't looking when his old shoe came flying my way."—Yonkers Statesman.

The Publisher's Claims Sustained

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS

The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it "is, in fact, the popular Unabridged thoroughly re-edited in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation."

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly re-edited in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the future as in the past it will be the source of constant reference.
